

Regarding copy protection on digital TV receivers:

I now have the right to record a movie or other broadcast TV program for the purpose of viewing at a later time. Please do not take away this right for digital TV. By the way, installing copy protection on digital TVs will not keep me from copying a digital broadcast. I can buy the DVD and copy that on my PC. Thus, the argument that copy protection will keep consumers from copying digital media is false.

Thank you for listening.

Chris Foreman